The Nation’s Health, October 2020, Volume 50, No. 8

Nation

Public health ramps up for COVID-19 vaccination campaign: Agencies readying

Healthy People 2030 charts new course for nation: Newest edition shares 355 measurable, streamlined objectives

Q&A with Carter Blakey on Healthy People 2030: Setting objectives to move US health forward Social determinants of health playing larger role in new initiative

Public health, election staff team up to prepare for Election Day
  - Voting in person this Election Day? Check out these tips before you go

Energy justice: Addressing racism in minority communities — Q&A with NAACP’s Jacqui Patterson

CDC: Acute flaccid myelitis cases expected to rise among US kids

State & Local

California school district dismantles police force, reimagines culture (4, 21)

States in Brief

Healthy You

Keeping your feet healthy, happy and infection-free
  - How common? Very common

Health Findings

Health Findings
On the Job

COVID-19 killing front-line health workers, especially people of color

On the Job In Brief

APHA News

Bringing engagement, interaction to APHA 2020: Virtual Annual Meeting format means ‘new, not less’ — ‘We’re reinventing what a virtual scientific conference can be’

Online Annual Meeting good for business: Events shifted to new days

APHA tools ready public health advocates for action: Speak for Health campaign fact sheets detail state spending

Advocacy serves as impetus for public health change, new APHA book says

APHA Advocates

President’s Column

Saying thanks, but not goodbye, to my public health family: Parting words from APHA’s president

Journal Watch

Journal Watch

Sections

Disability Section celebrates progress, works to impact, influence change

Member Groups In Brief
Web-only News

Children continue to be injured in the US while operating ATVs [e31]

Food insecurity linked to increased heart disease risk [e32]

Real-life vaccine conversations can counter social media misinformation [e33]

Newsmakers: October 2020 [e34]

Resources: October 2020 [e35]